DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claims 1-10 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention, for the reasons given in the previous rejection, hereby incorporated by reference. As stated previously, the structure of the claimed invention is not clearly defined insofar as determining where the claimed components are located with respect to each other, and how the different types of cells are structurally distinguishable from each other.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 1-10 are further rejected, insofar as understood, under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Yun, of record, and Kelly et al (5,801,573), the subject matter of which is described as prior art on page 1 of the instant specification. The discussion of the Yun reference is hereby incorporated from the previous rejection. In addition to the Yun teaching, Kelly teaches the well known use of associated support layers, terminals and drive circuitry, as claimed.

Taken together, these references appear to teach all of the claimed features; insofar as they can be understood.
